

TERMS AND CONDITIONS – DATA PRIVACY POLICY

District Data Access

A+ Computer Science does not access nor connect to any district servers for any reason. A+ Computer Science does not access any district private data from any district servers or sources for any reason. A+ Computer Science does not use nor access nor store any district data from any district server.

Login Information / Account Creation

Use of A+ Computer Science Curriculum Materials and Contest Prep Materials does NOT require student logins nor access to any private student information.

A+ Computer Science DOES NOT house any student confidential information related to gender, age, social security, driver’s license, home address, school ID, grades, email address, or any other personal information.

Teacher download accounts can be created upon request. These accounts allow teachers to download teaching materials. Teachers may prefer to include email addresses for their username. Teachers can login and download A+ Computer Science Curriculum Materials and/or A+ Computer Science Contest Preparation face to face teaching materials. Students may NOT login and access any A+ Computer Science Curriculum Materials and/or A+ Computer Science Contest Preparation materials.

Use of the OPTIONAL A+ Computer Science Practice Site requires student accounts. Each account requires the student create an anonymous username. Students may NOT use email addresses as a username. In order to create student accounts for the Optional A+ Computer Science Practice Site, teachers should create and assign anonymous usernames to students. Student usernames do NOT require real authentic student information. Each teacher may create and assign usernames as he or she deems appropriate. Student usernames may include any words, symbols, or numbers chosen by the student and/or provided by the teacher. There is no mechanism which allows the system or other users to communicate with students or teachers via the A+ Computer Science Practice Site.

The A+ Computer Science sites use cookies for the sole purpose of keeping sessions open and active. By using the A+ Computer Science sites and agreeing to these terms and conditions, you consent to A+ Computer Science’s use of cookies. Information / data from cookies are not retained by A+ Computer Science. Cookie information is not housed anywhere on the A+ Computer Science site nor distributed nor shared. Cookies exist temporarily while the user is logged in and active.

“User Content” refers to anonymous program code submitted to solve the live programming problems posted on the A+ Practice Site.

Users must not submit any user content to the A+ Computer Science Practice Site that is or has ever been the subject of any threatened or actual legal proceedings or other similar complaint.

Any and all solutions submitted to the A+ Practice Site must not be illegal or unlawful, must not infringe any third party's legal rights, and must not be capable of giving rise to legal action whether against you or A+ Computer Science or a third party (in each case under any applicable law).

Notwithstanding A+ Computer Science rights under these terms and conditions in relation to user content, A+ Computer Science does not undertake to monitor the submission of such content to, or the publication of such content on, any of its websites.